Capital Link's New York Maritime Forum took place on Tuesday, September 13, 2016 at the Metropolitan Club in New York City. The Forum was organized in partnership with DNB, and in cooperation with the New York Stock Exchange, Nasdaq, the Empire State Development of New York, the New York City Economic Development Corporation, and the Port Authority of NY & NJ. The event was a huge success and attracted 1000+ senior executives from the global maritime industry and the investment community.

The Forum is both an investment and an industry event. It was a one-day conference with two parallel tracks running, which achieved two objectives:

1. To provide an interactive platform for investors, financiers, cargo owners and shipowners to discuss the latest developments in the global shipping and commodity markets, as well as in the financial and capital markets. New York is the industry's capital raising center, with the largest number of listed shipping companies and the largest investor, analyst and investment bank base.

2. To showcase and promote the role of New York as a hub for the global maritime community and attract more business to New York targeting a global industry audience. Besides being the industry's capital raising center, New York is also the third largest port in the United States serving as the gateway to a large consumer and industrial market. The New York Maritime Community plays a vital role in the industry with a diverse offering of products and services from port logistics, cargo handling, security and maritime support services to ship-broking, arbitration and mediation, insurance and reinsurance, restructuring and bankruptcy, maritime finance and law, securities law, maritime education and maritime technology.
