

How can carbon negative unlock positive value for the planet?

EY is proud that it will become carbon negative in 2021 and net zero in 2025 by both accelerating the reduction in our carbon emissions and by removing and offsetting even more than we emit, every year. Through collaboration we can find new answers to build a better, more sustainable working world.

Find out more ey.com/carbonnegative

The better the question.
The better the answer.
The better the world works.